

What you need to know about your Air Duct System

Dirt, pollen, insects, mildew and mold are breeding grounds for germs and bacteria yet they can probably all be found hiding inside the ductwork of your ventilation system. Each time you turn on your heating and / or air conditioning systems you are sending all that debris right into the air you breathe in your home.

Having your air ducts cleaned by professionals on a regular basis can help eliminate these problems, remove dirt, mold and mildew, evict the critters, and help keep dust in your home to a minimum. This means you can dust less often. Prepare your home for the extra time you and your family will be spending inside during the cold and dreary winter months.

All our work is guaranteed and performed by Certified Air Duct Cleaning Professionals and we use environmentally friendly cleaning products. Continental Clean Air is a proud member of the Indoor Air Quality Association (IAQA) and the American Indoor Air Quality Council.

Please don't hesitate to contact us if we can answer any questions or schedule your air duct system cleaning.
